The Golden Rule

Statesville Landmark.

The one sate rule of conduct for life, the observance of which would mean practically justice and righteousness for all the world, is the Golden Rule. Its observance is probably more neglected than any other rule of human conduct, but it cannot be too often called to mind. The Chicago Record-Herald has made a compilation showing that this nations and all religions in all ages. It is expressed in different words, but the meaning is the same. Here is the compilation:

Christian-All things whatsoeyer ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them Persian-Do as you would be

Grecian-Do not that to a neighbor which you would take ill from him,

Chinese-What you would not wish done to yourself do not do unto others.

Buddhist-One should seek for others the happiness one desires for one's self.

Egyptian-He sought for others the good he desired for himsel'. Let him pass on.

Mohammedan-Let none of you treat his brother in a way he himself would dislike to be

Hindu-The true rule of life is to guard and do by the things of others as they do by their own
